Dear Dr Sahib,

Having reached my office yesterday, I have already sent you a short message of congratulations. I am sending you this message to reiterate the fact that it was an excellent conference in terms of bringing us together lovers of Rumi and his message and helping see experience the diversity of his messages. I was simply flabbergasted by the spirited presentations by a such a diverse writers and thinkers. Insha Allah, I'll share my larger reflections in a couple of days and send to you. Through this message, I would like thank the presenters for enlightening us with their fruits of scholarship. I felt like being part of the "Simurgh of Attar" when we met in that lovely hall for three days, and like Rumi's flute, I now feel an agonizing separation and yearn to tear my layers of ego and be annihilated by the lovers of Rumi as it may not be possible to burn on the lamp of Rumi, as that lamp is too high an altitude beyond the access of my tiny and fragile wings.

Longing to meet you all,

Dr Jan-e-Alam Khaki
